

PROFILE: TRIONE VINEYARDS

We cultivate more than 650 vineyard acres in Russian River, Alexander Valley and Sonoma Coast — three Sonoma County appellations known for outstanding grapes. Winemaker Scot Covington selects fruit from distinct blocks on each property for Trione Wines. Vineyard Operations Manager Kris Hicks works closely with Scot throughout the growing season, hand harvesting the grapes at peak ripeness.

ALEXANDER VALLEY

Sunny days and warm temperatures in the Alexander Valley provide ideal growing conditions for red varieties at our Cloverdale, Geyserville and Home Ranch vineyards.

Home Ranch

- Acreage: 246 planted
- Site: 215 feet elevation, southern exposure, located on the western bank of the Russian River
- Soils: clay loam over clay loam subsoil
- Years planted: 1992 – 2008
- Source of Cabernet Sauvignon, Block 4, Bordeaux clone 339

Cloverdale Ranch

- Acreage: 181.44 planted
- Site: 301 feet elevation, east-southeast exposure, located along western flank of Mayacamas Mountains at the upper end of Alexander Valley
- Soils: clay loam over sandy clay loam subsoil with a high percentage of alluvial gravel deposits
- Source of Cabernet Sauvignon Block 21, Bordeaux clone 337, Petite Verdot, Malbec
- Years planted: 1990 – 2004

*“Three generations, four decades, five ranches.
Our family is deeply rooted in Sonoma County.”*

TRIONE Vineyards & Winery

Geyserville Ranch

- Acreage: 96.66 planted
- Site: 227 feet elevation, northwest-southeast exposure, in the heart of Alexander Valley
- Soils: clay loam over sandy clay loam subsoil
- Years planted: 1993-1998
- Source of Red Wine Merlot, block I, Bordeaux clone 181, Zinfandel, Primitivo

RUSSIAN RIVER VALLEY

The geological center of the Russian River AVA marks our River Road Ranch, where moderating sea breezes and cool, foggy nights are ideal for growing desirable Pinot Noir, Syrah, Chardonnay and Sauvignon Blanc. River Road Ranch sits on rolling hills overlooking the site where the Russian River turns west, running toward the Pacific Ocean. Three creeks in riparian zones run through the property.

River Road Ranch

- Acreage: 125.28 planted
- Site: 60-114 feet elevation, east-west exposure
- Soils: sandy clay loam over sandy loam subsoil
- Years planted: 1998-2009
- Source of Chardonnay, Sauvignon Blanc, Pinot Noir and Syrah

*"Three generations, four decades, five ranches.
Our family is deeply rooted in Sonoma County."*

trionewinery.com

SONOMA COAST

In hilly terrain and only 10 miles from the Pacific Ocean, Flatridge Ranch grows heritage Zinfandel vines at 1,100 feet elevation in the Sonoma Coast AVA. The Pacific Ocean is less than 10 miles to the west, influencing the daytime shifts in temperature. The elevation and coastal weather give rise to a longer growing season, allowing full flavor development.

Flatridge Ranch

- Acreage: 10 planted
- Site: 1,100 feet elevation, southern exposure
- Soils: rich, red volcanic
- Year planted: 2008
- Source of Zinfandel, St. Peter's Church clone

*"Three generations, four decades, five ranches.
Our family is deeply rooted in Sonoma County."*

trionewinery.com